Is There a Doctor in the Institute?

by Andrew Lagravinese of a doctor were needed. Dr. Marty was payed through the 03 account, this is the account that pays for all of the non permanent staff working at the Institute.

DR. Marty was hired to work nine hours a week, but as he says, he usually ended up working twelve to fourteen hours a week. This is one of the main reasons that Dr. Marty is no longer with us. I recently talked with Dr. Marty and I got some of his views on why he left the Institute. The remaining portion of the article is a result of my conversations with Dr. Marty, Dean King, and Assistant Dean of Students, Louis Demetroulakos.

Dr. Marty had two main reasons for leaving LTI. The first of which is the lack of student involvement in the Health Services. According to him, all the students wanted from a doctor at LTI was a person to conduct a "sick call". They wanted a person who would "treat their sports injuries and cure their colds". The students had no interest in anything past these two items, and therefore Dr. Marty feels that LTI does not need a full-time doctor, but rather a doctor that is willing to conduct an emergency room type of system here at LTI. He feels that as long as the students have no interest in anything else except their bodies, that a full time doctor would be a waste of money. The students had no interest in any type of lecture series that he could offer, such as a seminar in human sexuality, or drug abuse. Both of these were offered by Dr. Marty as a service to the students, a service that the students did not take advantage of. This was one of the main gripes of Dr. Marty, that the students did not take advantage of the services that he was trying to offer them. He said that he tried the whole time he was here to generate some interest among the students to get any sort of program going that would benefit the students, but nobody was interested. So in the end he gave up, because as he said, he could not function as a doctor under these conditions, where the students are apathetic towards even themselves.

The second reason for Dr. Marty leaving LTI was for a more common complaint, that of not enough money and not enough hours to serve the students. This may sound like a contradiction to what I said above, but you must realize that the students were always flocking to his office, to take advantage of the fact that LTI finally "had a doctor on campus", something that we have not had here in quite some time. In this sense Dr. Marty was taken advantage of, but of all of these people that came to see him, maybe 15% really needed to see him and the rest could have gone to the nurse. So the doctor was being used but not for the right purposes.

What Dr. Marty wanted was more money per hour so that he would be on the same pay rate as the other doctors that work at colleges. He also wanted to extend his hours so that he could serve all of the students that came to see him. The only problem, according to his was that the school was willing to give him more money, but they would still have to limit his hours. According to Dr. Marty, more hours mean more money and the school was not prepared to part with it. If on the other hand, the school had offered him a full time job, he would have taken it, but he felt that he could not do a proper job on a part-time basis. Other schools have also run into the problem of not having doctor on a full-time basis. Salem State College had a doctor on the campus two hours a day for five days a week, Fitchberg State has a doctor one hour a day, five days a week, Lowell State has a doctor a total of four hours a week. So we are not alone in our search for a full-time doctor to reside on campus.

According to Dean King and Dean D, the administration had very little to do with the resignation of Mr. Marty. They

Audience Participation

Combining visual as well as audio, the Bozo Rock Opera, was an excellent warm up group whose sound was vaguely reminiscent of the Moody Blues and Black Sabbath, with a hard driving beat that was hard to ignore. For a show unique to Tech, the group used many props that one does not normally see in a college concert, but lacked the professionalism to make them an excellent group. The imaginary rock musical questioned "WHAT IS REAL", as well as several other things that the authors are not quite sure they understand. With a little more work, the Bozo Rock Opera could well become a leading contender in the wild world of "hard rock".

Sha Na Na, the greatest living '50's rock and roll group is alive and well, as approximately 1700 paying, screaming fans can now attest to. Several of these fans took exception to being told that they were enrolled at "Lowell Technical Institute", but after they heard the music, no one seemed to mind.

The nine visible members brought another new sound to Tech, a sound that is becoming increasingly more popular. Sha Na Na was so good in fact, that the smell of grass was almost nonexistent, a phenomenon that is almost unknown here at Tech.

"Rock and Roll is Here to Stay", "Tell Laura I Love Her" and "My Little Runaway" are but a few of the songs they performed. The dance contest was "won" by a 24 year old student of "Katy Gibbs Secretarial School" who was led around the stage by her "14 year old" partner. The two girls from state didn't have a chance, but what happened to Tech girls?

"Tell Laura I Love Her"

The versatile musicians of Sha-Na-Na, some who seemed old enough to be your father, were fantastic. Their singing talent was excelled only by their acting ability. You didn't have to like "greaser music" to enjoy it.

Lenny "Burl Ives" Bowser was an outstanding performer, but was noticeably angered by the rowdy "greasers" in the front row. These few individuals, who got in free incidentally, had many of the audience and some of the marshalls, waiting for them to jump up on the stage. Although the marshalls did a good job, the concert was ruined for a number of people. Although they lent authenticity to the first part, they became carried away, to the extent that some were escorted outside.

The concert was easily worth the $3.50 admission price — too bad more Techies didn't attend. Where else can you go to quality concerts at these prices? Make sure you see America!

An Empty Chair For An Empty Position

As most of you know, last year LTI was fortunate enough to have the services of Dr. Marty Zinamin, who was the physician that worked in the Health Services nine hours a week, in conjunction with the two nurses. Dr. Marty was hired because the Lowell Tech community had no doctor on campus at the time, and it was felt that because of the growing need and of the growing number of students, that the services

Star Ship Enterprise at LTI

Gene Roddenberry, creator and producer of Star Trek, will lecture in Cumnock hall on Sunday, Sept. 29, 1974.

Gene Roddenberry is probably the only producer in television history whose name brings instant recognition. His series, STAR TREK, had, and still has, the largest following of any series in television history. Ask any dorm student what he does at six o'clock on a weekday night, and he will probably tell you that he watches STAR TREK, even though he has seen that episode 48 times before.

STAR TREK has won the Hugo Award, which is given to outstanding science-fiction material, and is also the only series to ever have an episode preserved by the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. When NBC considered cancelling STAR TREK, fans all over the U.S. deluged them with angry letters of protest. Due to its loyal fans STAR TREK went on and on. Now, even though it is in syndication, more and more people are watching it.

After STAR TREK was cancelled, Roddenberry was actively sought out by several networks and studios to create "something new and creative". As a result Roddenberry has created GENESIS II, a sci-fi feature about earth in the year 2133 after a great conflict has destroyed almost all of modern civilization, and mankind has to begin again.

Mr. Roddenberry has also worked on such projects as QUESTOR, the story of a perfect replica of a human being, that is in effect a robot. Roddenberry has also worked on two police stories, The TRIBUNES, and BLUE LINE. He is well qualified to write police stories, as he worked for the LA police force before becoming a successful writer. When he started selling his scripts to television, he quit the police force to pursue his writing career. Roddenberry has sold scripts to such shows as, DRAGNET, and PLAYHOUSE 90. What people do not know that he was also the head writer for the popular series, HAVE GUN, WILL TRAVEL, for which he won the Writers Guild Award. Another point of interest is the fact that Roddenberry is married to the woman that used to play the nurse in STAR TREK.

Mr. Roddenberry will bring with him the first pilot film of STAR TREK, one that has never been shown on television. He will also have a film of bloopers that have been made while filming the show.

If you have nothing to do on Sunday night, warp on over to the Star Ship Cumnock and learn how STAR TREK became the success that it is.

I Returned For Another Year Of "Rip Off"

Two weeks ago, there was a comment editorial on the $25.00 deposit paid by all resident students, much of which wasn't returned. Obviously, many students were upset when they received only a fraction of their damage deposit back or worse, were billed in addition to their prepaid deposit.

To generalize and say that no student deserved to pay would be false. However, so much anger and resentment could be heard about the matter this fall that it was hard to believe all the complaints were invalid.

The following are actual statements by students who live in the Towers and were dissatisfied about being billed. Both students and administrators should think about this very seriously because from talking and interviewing a number of residents, it is obvious that some students were taken advantage of grossly when it came time to charge them for damages to their rooms.

At the end of spring semester this year I went through the normal ritual of moving from the dorm. I washed and cleaned the room. It was inspected by the floor councilor who verified that it was in good shape.

During the summer I received a letter with what I thought was my $25.00 room deposit. Instead it was only $20.00. The letter said that the $5.00 taken out was for cleaning the room. Hmmm!

The dorm complex opened up again for another year of "rip off the student", and I discovered that everyone had money taken out for various reasons ranging from room cleaning to alleged repair of massive damage such as $19.00 to fill in a few thumbtack holes.

Here are some responses of students interviewed about the subject:
Room 806

"When I moved into the room, its ceiling was badly chipped showing in many spots large craters and holes in the ceiling beams. Massive holes and dents dot the walls. Numerous staple holes filled the walls and they were quite dirty. The door was badly chipped and glue from masking tape was all over the door. This is enough damage without complaining about dirty windows and gum on the upholstered chair. I can't stress the trouble and nuisance of living in such a room and trying to get it fixed. I was assured by John Custy (7th floor RA) that it wouldn't be fixed this year."

A New Arrival To The Room

NOTE: The following occupants were charged $60.00 for damage that wasn't fixed.

"It is a big ripoff."

"Both me and my roommate were charged $5.00 for waxing the floor."

"If they pulled this shit last year, what will they do this year when we have to pay for damage in corridors."

"I cannot see charging $33.00 to fill in a few thumbtack holes."

"I was billed $101.00 to fill in a small hole in the wall with plaster and painting over it."

"Man, did I get reamed!"

"You got to be shitting me, only $6.00 back? What did they do? Rebuild the room?"

"What! I've been ripped. Errrr."

"I wouldn't mind paying if they actually did some work in the room, but they didn't do a damn thing except slop wax on the floor."

This list of dissatisfied students living in the Towers is only a small sample of those who got the mighty LTI shaft again.

Senate Settles Finances With State

by F. McLaughlin

Your Student Senate took up a light agenda last Wednesday, hearing committee reports and resolving the financial dispute between Tech and State.

President Doherty reported to the Senate that the LSC Student Gov't Association had agreed to accept $934 as settlement for the James Montgomery receipts/missing PA equipment episode. The Senate originally owed State $1334 in concert receipts, the $400 deduction is for equipment State had in their possession that was never returned.

Two Senators Bunting and Flagg questioned Doherty as to whether he had handled the matter as the Senate had decided at the previous meeting. In a few short moments the discussion had disintegrated into a debate on parliamentary procedure, an area that none of the Senators or officers are very well read up on. After the amendments, and substitute motions had cleared the air, all that remained was a motion to give LSC $934. It was passed on a rollcall vote 14-2-2. Bunting and Flagg voted against, they wanted to split the cost of the lost equipment to show the Senate's willingness to cooperate in consideration of the upcoming merger.

Rathskellar

Good news for Rathskellar regulars came out of the meeting as the Senate voted the 25 cent entertainment charge out of existence.

Reasons for the change — inconsistent and inefficient enforcement of the collecting of the money. People coming later in the evening were less likely to be hit for the quarter than those who arrived early. It was also stated that unauthorized people had been collecting money after authorized people had stopped collecting for the night.

Athletics

The Senate allocated $225 for busses to 3 home hockey games and 2 away football games. The busses will be outside the SUB on the day or night of the game. Hockey games are at Skate 3 in Tyngsboro. Look in the Sports Section for further details.

The Senate also directed President Olsen to disclose the breakdown of the student activity for athletics. V.P. Kiezulas made the motion in order to make sure that all the money the students give to athletics in their activity fee, is reaching the athletic program. Students now pay $21.75 each to the Athletic Association.

Committee Actions

A Regatta Committee was set up and Gary Cannavo was appointed chairman. The committee will work on coordinating all aspects of LTI's in- (Continued on page 5)

In One Week

In just one week begins the biggest, most attended week of activities the greater Lowell has probably even known of seen. Centered around on the tri-annual regatta comes the Fall Regatta Festival, a chain of cultural events spreading a week long until October 6. Unlike past regattas, which have happened during the summer when students aren't around - or have only met with mild success, this fall's festival is projected to attract hundreds of thousands, not to view the events, but to also participate in such attractions as the beer fest (along the banks of the Merrimack), and the Irish Jig, an Alumni weekend, air shows, water shows, and fireworks.

It may be hard to believe that hundreds of thousands might want to make an effort to come up to Lowell for anything, but if you were to hear about all of the events, demonstrations, exhibits, etc. packed hour-to-hour for eight days straight, you'd realize why so many are expected. Some events are appearing on nation-wide television.

Ed McMahon of the Johnny Carson show is having his own night where he features several celebrities, among them, Jerry Lewis. McMahon himself is a native of Lowell.

Many highlights appear on the weekend as the Regatta Festival climaxes on Sunday with numerous races and many large famed college teams in, and out of, the area.

Both LTI and LSC play an important role in this fall's regatta. Aside from the sports features, there will be a University Float, production by the Players and a record-size edition of The Text for the city. The Regatta Committee is depending on enthusiastic support from students of both schools. If any clubs or organizations (social and service) would like to be part of the Parade that week, the Committee is searching for this type of participation. Contact Dr. LaMark's office if you're interested.

Don't forget about the Bradley GT being raffled off that week. Tickets are $1.00 or 12 for $10.00 and are being sold in front of the mailroom.

The largest element being sought of the student body is participation and attendance at the Regatta Festival. The merger makes Lowell a University City - something that any city would be proud to have. Student involvement in the festival activities is an important element in community relations. Tech is only "another world" aside of Lowell if we let it be.

Make definite plans to come to the biggest Regatta Festival yet.

The Strong Arm Of The Law

Last Thursday saw the most well marshalled concert that I have had the pleasure of attending in four years at Tech. Due to the quick actions of the marshalls several major disruptions were averted. Bob Larabee and Ed Kowaleski should both be given a "well done and keep up the good work" for the fine job they did as head marshalls. Due to the fine coordination of all of the marshalls, damage was nill and trespassers into the concert were kept to almost none. The only minor infraction the whole night was when a small group of townies, posing as a bunch of greasers, managed to get in. Then after working their way to the front of the floor they attempted to mount the stage but due to the strong arm of the law, the marshalls, they were subdued. The townies then began to get out of hand and with the marshalls close at hand, the townies were removed from the concert. Much praise should be given the marshalls, and Doug Flagg should be glad he had such a group as these. It has been found that one cannot rationalize with the townies. Force is the only language that they understand and thanks to Angelo Muccio, Mike Morin, Brian Connolly, and the dozen or so marshalls at the front of the stage the townies now understand alot better. Again, Bob and Ed, Thanks very much and keep the strong arm of the law in shape for America, I think that we may need it.

But That's Tech

Dear Editor,

It would seem that an institute of higher education would be set up for the benefit of it's student population, to fulfill their needs, both academic and environmental.

For a couple of years the housing situation at Tech has been a problem. Not enough people want to live there, and it is no wonder. The facilities are in poor shape. Windows often fail to work properly and rarely get fixed unless the student does it himself. The buildings are not kept sufficiently clean. Granted that is partially the residents fault, but the condition still exists.

In Leitch and Bourgeois there are six rooms (three each) that are legally uninhabitable due to their lack of window space. These are the middle rooms now occupied by councilors. It was once suggested to the administration that these rooms be made into storage/kitchen facilities. The suggestor was told, basically, to go fly a kite. Thank you, Cumnock Hall.

Then there is that organization, some have the audacity to call it a "catering" "service", that serves "food" in the dorms. The food committee went home last year thinking that mandatory food plans were dead, until they received their bill. Then it was known that Ernie put the screws to the students again. Not only was the food still mandatory, but there was a substantial increase in the cost and a substantial decrease in the "service". Ernie Kaknes runs the "catering" "service". Everett V. Olsen is the institute President. There is really no reason to believe that their friendship has anything to do with the amount of atrocities that Ernie gets away with. After the way that Ernie has swindled the students at Tech, he does not even deserve to take away the cafeteria trash. Two years ago Ernie did the football club a favor by selling them hot dogs for their home games. The favor ended when the football club got the bill and found that they had been soaked $2.00 a pound for the hot dogs. Now he is charging about $1.60 for "meals" that are not fit to be fed to swine. Think about it Mr. Olsen, Mr. Lovering, how much do you think people will stand for. If the administration would end it's political chicanery, and think some about the students, there probably wouldn't have to be mandatory residency to fill the dorms. If there could be someone in the cafeteria that could cook decent food at decent prices, it is quite probable that there would be less problems filling the dorms, and paying off the bonds.

It should have happened a long time ago, but that's Tech.

SHA-NA-NA

Dear Editor,

Last Thursday, the marshalls for the Sha-na-na concert did the best job this school has seen in several years. What little disturbances there were, were dispelled quickly and quietly by this organized group. The Hell's Angels ("pagans" as the Sha-na-na manager called them) harassed the crowd and group until after several requests to sit down, the marshalls quickly removed several of the members.

The officers of the Senate, the administrators and the students owe Bob and Ed's marshalls a super big thank you. We couldn't have found a better group of guys!

John Doherty,
S.S. President

P.S. The stage crew was the most fantastic ever!!

Dear Editor,

We would like to write this short note to thank the marshalls and congratulate them on the outstanding job they did on the Sha-Na-Na concert. We have received nothing but compliments on their performance. It was the first concert in a long time at which no damage was done and the gym has never been cleaned as fast. We hope to see them at the next concert. Again, marshalls, thanks for a great job.

Building Authority Says:

Dear Editor,

Reading the latest issues of your esteemed paper, one would reasonably be led to the conclusion that the Lowell Tech. Building Authority is comprised of the proverbial lot of drunken sailors spending the Student's money in monthly fiscal orgies. Apparently, the Text believes that we take great pleasure in insuring that you all die of nutritional deficiency while living borrowed moments in a fire hazard (S.U.B.).

Having attended L.T.I. (69'), I can understand that occasional flights of fancy are needed to relieve the boredom, but such activity becomes sad when the listeners turn to believers.

To return to reality, please note the following: The Building Authority is re-establishing its food committee to arrive at definitive plans which will be instituted next semester. I feel that the major reason for the continuation of the past system unchanged is disorganization among the student food committee. We were presented with so many bewildering variations on the "desired" plan, that even my law degree could bring no sense to the maze — which shifted second by second. There were plans for 14 meals, 10 meals, optional 10/14 meals, optional dinner/supper, optional breakfast/dinner, optional

Saturday or Sunday feedings, all of these shifting at the student's option every so many days, which was also optional!!!! There was no sense whatever to any of this, and no one could be expected to comprehend it rationally — certainly the food committee did not.

Also, the Building Authority faces a more fundamental problem — who represents the Students??? Its "food committee"? Do these people have personal axes to grind? I would like to see a food committee elected by the dorm students. I would like to see them formulate one or two specific plans, not an endless, formless, and irrational series of variations. I would like to see them formulate defined objectives and back them with documented dates, not rely on prejudice and supposition.

Those who doubt that the Authority has the welfare of the Studesnt body as its first concern are invited to attend our meetings — held every 4th Thursday at 12:00 in Cumnock Hall. Also, our food committee meetings will be public, probably held in the S.U.B. on a date to be announced.

The Alternate Security System Plan

Dear Editor,

Security has been a problem in the S.U.B. for as long as it has been occupied. Pilferage and damage are an every day event here. To combat this problem the administration has incorporated another ridiculous rule into the dormitory contract. The residents of each individual floor are responsible for the furniture on their floor and are accountable for it at the end of the year. This rule would be fine if only residents of the floor were allowed on the floor, but if there is a TV lounge on the floor this cannot be done. The administration, due to their police of no security, leaves two alternatives for the student to protect themselves from being ripped-off at the end of the year for lost furniture or broken furniture. One is to have 24 hour a day voluntary student coverage of the lobby and lounge, which is not practical, and the other is to assign persons to be responsible for certain pieces of furniture giving them the option to leave them in the lobby or in the "safety" of their own rooms.

This all leads to the question, what is to be done about the problem? The administration as they have always done will probably ignore the situation or hand it to the Board of Trustees which is about the same as doing nothing about the problem, as was shown by the handling of the non-mandatory food plan over the past summer.

The members of the Student Senate, instead of solving the security problem first, and then attacking the issue of students with lobby furniture in their rooms, are in the process of setting up a $10 fine for those students guilty of protecting what furniture is left. Who gave the Student Senate the right to fine a student is not known yet or where this fine money will go is a better question.

More on Marty

said that the question of money was out of their hands, that it was controlled by the state, and that there was a set amount of money set aside for the hiring of a doctor at LTI. When this money ran out there was nothing that anybody could do. There were two options open to the administration and Dr. Marty. The first was to get an increase in his hourly rate but still work the same hours, or to take a lower pay but work more hours. In the end he would be making the same amount of money, but he would have to work more hours to make it. Anybody in his right mind would be crazy to agree to the second choice, unless he was a totally dedicated person who did not care what he made for wage. As we all know, these persons are few and far between. Dean King said that if a full-time person was hired that he would be paid out of the 01 account, the account that pays for all of the full-time staff. The only problem that arises out of this is the fact that a person would either have to love working with college students (as Dr. Marty did), or be willing to take a cut in pay, because there is no way that a college can pay the same wage that a doctor can make in a private practice. Unless the state allocates more funds to LTI for the payment of a doctor, we may be without the services of a doctor on campus for a long time.

When questioned about the possibility of the new Lowell University not having a full-time doctor, Dean King said that LTI was looking into the possibility of the LU using the new facilities at St. Josephs hospital. They are now just completing a new out patient clinic and emergency room facilities. This would not take the place of the first aid facilities that both schools now have, but in effect supplement it and extend the health services that the two schools now have. But this is all in the future. But for the present, Dean King said that LTI has obtained the services of two local doctors that will not on campus but will be on call at St. Josephs in case of an emergency. This is the same system that LTI had before Dr. Marty came here. So as it stands we still have no full-time doctor here at LTI, with very little hope in the future of getting one. Lowell State is in the same position as we are, because they too have no doctor full-time. So here we are in the position of being a university of about 6000 full-time day students, and not having a full-time doctor. About the only way that the LU would be able to obtain the services of such a doctor would be to charge each student a set fee for "Health Services". Here again we run into problems. The first of which is this, students going to an in state school pay $200 a year tuition. In addition to this they also pay $70 a year Student Union fee, $60 Student Activity fee, and dorm residents pay $25 damage deposit. That totals up to $155 in non academic fees. That is almost as much as you are paying for tuition. Now if the Institute were to add on another $25 or $30 to all of the other fees we pay, we could end up paying more in non academic fees than we do for tuition, a situation which nobody wants. I don't think that the parents of the students of LTI are in the same financial situation as the parents of Harvard or MIT students. But this is what all the big schools do, they add a few more dollars to the bill to cover the cost of the "Health Service". What's $30 when you are paying $5000 for an education?

As of right now there is no solution to the problem at hand. We do have the two doctors that are on call, we do have the two nurses that run the Health Services, but we do not have a plan for the future LU. What is a college that has 6000 students enroled going to do for a full-time doctor. I don't think that anybody can argue that there is not a need for this doctor, but then again there seems to be very little being done to cure the situation. A doctor that will be working nine hours a week will not be sufficient to take care of 6000 students. What this college needs is a doctor that is willing to work full-time, and a doctor that can relate to the students. But what we need most of all is a student body that is not apathetic, a student body that will support a doctor that comes to this school, a doctor that for the most part is here to help the students, not only to cure their physical ills, but also their mental ones as well. Until the student body is willing to support a full time doctor, LTI will never see one here, because no one wants to work in an environment where the students do not even care about themselves.

If anybody has any comments about the above subject, feel free to contact the TEXT or myself. Any additional information will be greatly appreciated.

JOB PLACEMENT Industrial Technology Where?

The Industrial Technology program was begun with the realization that industry has a need for men skilled in both business and engineering. The businessman has difficulty communicating with the engineer and vice-versa. The Industrial Technologist skilled in both areas can bridge this gap, providing a service to industry. This is excellent. The IT grad can get a job as a switchboard operator.

What else? Well it seems that no one really knows for sure. Industry will probably put the IT grad where he needs him and with a large variety of titles. The class of '75 is the experiment. Where the class goes determines what IT is capable of and what IT should expect in the future. My point is that not enough has been done to insure IT a place in the job market. there is a place but where and what kind?

These questions must be discussed and answered before the IT grad can actively seek a job. There has been good discussion among students and faculty, yet have the employers been actively involved? To some extent yes, however, I am sure IT students need reassurance that employers interviewing LTI will have an X next to IT for job offerings when they arrive this fall and spring.

Resume Writing Seminar Thursday

"The resume is the most important tool available to the job searcher."

To facilitate the task of resume writing, the Placement Office has scheduled this seminar for 12:00 Thursday, Sept. 26, in the new auditorium of the Chemistry building (Olney). there will be a team of experts skilled in resume writing conducting the seminar.

In order to be scheduled for interviews, the Placement Office is requiring students seeking jobs to register at the Placement Office with ten copies of his or her resume put on file. This must be done by October 1. If you are encountering any difficulties with the resume or letter of transmittal, this seminar should clear any problems.

CLUBS

HANG ON

Ten people from the newly-formed sky-surfing club recently went to a Hang-Gilder meet at Magic Mountain in Londonderry, Vermont.

Over 100 Rogallotype gliders (see photo) were present and reached altitudes of 500 feet during their 2 to 4 mile flights. Most flights lasted only 10 minutes or so but one adventuresome person flew for two hours.

The club meets Thursdays at 1 PM in B-118 and will be happy to teach you how to glide through the air. They'll even teach you how to land. The club had ground training last Thursday in the athletic fields for interested members. Club members have their own gliders and are available for use. Sound interesting? See you on Thursday.

Lowell University Chapter of the World Future Society

Does it annoy you to find out the sweetener in your drinks may be carcinogenic? Or that because of poor planning, we have to pay 58¢ for a gallon gas? That nuclear reactors will provide most of the future fuel needs, but we don't know how to dispose of the radioactive wastes except for burying them underground. Most of these problems are caused by lack of foresight.

The World Future Society is a world wide association of people interested in social and technological developments during the coming years. It was founded in 1966 by a group of private citizens who felt that businesses, governments, and individuals need to anticipate forthcoming changes in order to make decisions now.

Last year a chapter of the World Future Society was established at Lowell Tech. We have had eight successful programs so far. They consisted of a discussion or a film on a subject related to the future. Sheriff Buckley spoke on "The Future of Penal Systems"; Pat Mogan on "The Future of Lowell"; and the film "Future Shock," narrated by Orson Welles; among other programs.

This Wednesday, Sept. 25th at 7:30, Dr. Joseph Cronon, Secretary of Education, will speak on "The Future of Education". It will be held in the multi purpose room on the bottom floor of the Lowell Tech library. All are invited to come.

We can't predict the future — but we can become aware of it.

If you have any questions please contact Walter Eriksen, Box #1039 Lowell Tech Institute or call 649-7482.

SAM OPEN HOUSE

The Society for the Advancement of Management is having an Open House on Tuesday, September 24 at 12:00 noon in Room K-313 for all members and those interested in becoming members.

S.A.M. is the only professional business society on campus. It offers a opportunity for students, faculty and businessmen to get together to discuss what is relevant to them today. SAM has seminars, workshops, excursions, career guidance and generally an opportunity to meet with others interested in professional management.

I hope to see many interested faces at our first meeting.

Harold Macomber, President
Society for Advancement of Management

Around and

Around and...

This Sunday, Sept. 29, 1974, the Lowell Tech Sports Car Club will hold its first rallye of the year. It will be a novice rallye, so that nobody should get too lost. For those of you that have never been on a rallye, try to get to the Research Center parking lot a little bit early so that those of us that have rallied can try to explain just what the hell happens between point A and point B. Basically a rallye is the longest distance between point A and point B, point A being the Research Center, and point B being the end of the rallye. The rallyes usually end at a Pizza Hut or a Pewter Pot, or some equally unlikely place. Along the way you try to answer questions and also try to get as close to the official mileage as possible.

All of us that have rallied have had a great time, so there is no reason that you can't have the same fun that we all have. After you learn a few of the basics the rest comes easy.

Registration starts at 11:00 in the Research Center parking lot (located on Pawtucket St.), and the first car will be off at 12:00. The rallyes usually end around 3:00 or 4:00, so there will be no night driving.

So for a fun afternoon of driving and beautiful New England scenery, come over to the Research Center this Sunday and support the Lowell Tech Sports Car Club.

BETA TAU

The Sisterhood of Beta Tau would like to welcome back all new Tech girls and the general populus. We are pleased to announce the initiation of five new sisters who endured the rigors of Help Week. They are: Buffle Donovan, Yvonne Pacini, Nancy Wolochowicz, Debbie Scott, and Lise Daigle. Congratulations!

Our thanks must be extended to the Pledges of Delta Kappa Phi for their heart-warming apology. It is accepted in the spirit in which it was given.

Omicron Pi is seeking a grudge match with our overwhelmingly superior street hockey team. They seem to think that they're undefeatable. The date is to be announced.

Plans for a sisterhood banquet are being finalized. This will include the formalized initiation of our new sisters in late September.

Any girl who would like to find out more about Beta Tau is invited to stop any girl in a green and gold jacket or drop in to any of LTI's female dorms. There's always a sister willing to lend an ear or a hand.

Yours in Beta Tau.

More of The Players

Last week the Players performed their first production of the year, scenes from THE TAMING OF THE SHREW. Over 140 people attended the two performances. We would especially like to thank the new members of the organization: Richard Barham, Cindy Cook, Marie Santeusano, Bill Sapone, Carl Stafford, and Steve Tarp; and, of course, we also thank our old friends for all the help they gave us last week. We are grateful that two faculty members also attended.

Also participating in this production were the following members of Mr. Turrisi's Shakespeare class, LL301: Debbie Antal, Tom Bezigian, Jerome Czaja, W.A. Hurd, Marie Judge, Katherine Holmes, Michael Nelson, Marie Santeusano, Carl Stafford, Steve Tarp.

Tryouts for THE BANKER'S DILEMMA or HOW THE FAMOUS DOLLOP AND TRIP-PINGTON RAILROAD CAME TO BOTTS, CALIFORNIA were held after the meeting on Thursday, September 19. Michael Ryan will direct this Farce-melodrama, and the cast will include Rita Baltrukonis, Cindy Cook, W. A. Hurd, and Carl Stafford. People who are interested in helping out are welcome to come to the first rehearsal on Monday, Sept. 23 at 1:00 pm in the Little theatre (SUB 301).

The play will be performed on Sunday, October 6 in the Theatre on the third floor of the LTI Student Union Building, as part of the Greater Lowell Oktoberfest. PROCEEDS will be DONATED to the Muscular Dystrophy Fund. Tickets will be on sale in advance and at the door.

Tau Kappa Epsilon would like to extend a warm welcome to all those new at LTI. The problems presented to you this year will be new and varied and, for the most part, interesting. We wish you success in finding the best solution.

By now "Teke" has shown their interest in helping acquaint you with Tech at registration. Perhaps you have gotten to know some fraters and pledges. We hope so. Anyone you recognize as a Teke, either by dress or acquaintance, will be glad to help. Feel free to approach us for any assistance.

Teke is a fraternity that believes in developing character and leadership in its fraters. This is so since Teke exists only because individuals have come together to be able to expose themselves as fully as possible to as many areas of self-development as possible.

In this one article enough has been said about us. One word of advice: work as hard as you can first semester to prove to yourself, that you've got the stuff to stay. This is the most important time of your life. As you become more secure find where the action is and the men are; keep your eye on Teke.

KAPPA SIGMA FRATERNITY

The Brotherhood of Kappa Sigma would like to welcome the Freshmen and upperclassmen back to the old grind of classes.

Our Fraternity is one of five national fraternities on campus. It is also one of the largest having 176 chapters throughout the country.

We are always open so if you need a break from classes or some help in your classes don't be afraid to drop in at our house at 514 East Merrimack St. or come to our first Open Band Party of this year this coming Wednesday, Sept. 25th. Girls will be bussed in from Fitchburg State. There will be a Happy Hour from 6:00 to 7:30 where Beer will be 15c. It should be a great way to break up a week of classes as well as be a good time for those that come. For directions or rides call 459-3135. Hope to see you Wednesday the 25th.

OMICRON PI

The pledge party, as expected, was a success. The show was terrible but the party was good; we just hope there's still more to come.

Last Wednesday nights party featured a new twist. Along with the usual excellent draught/canned beer, Raz and Val combined to put together some really good mouthwatering pizza. That was tomato sauce on there huh! Raz?

Our touch football season opener is Tuesday afternoon vs. Delta Kappa Phi. We're looking forward to a high spirited, highly competitive season. We understand the cellar walls donned a new coat of paint recently. Was that a function of the bad weather reports?

Thick as a brick is already sending one unfortunate lady to the lonely hearts club... That's too bad, if he gave it some thought he might have sent her to weight watchers instead.

SIMEONE'S

Right off Central Square at 21-29 Brookline Street in Cambridge lies a college invested "Cheap-Eats" restaurant as Simeone's. The informal green checkered tablecloths, high-back booths with juke boxes lends itself especially to young crowds.

The big pitch at Simeone's is "Service With A Smile", and you get lots of food at a little price. Along with homemade specialties, there are a number of spaghetti dishes all under $2. Add another dollar and you're open to about two dozen other Italian dishes such as twin cacciatore platter, veal or chicken scallipino, lasagnes, and homemade raviolis! I only had one complaint — it was the antipasto, extremely inferior for an Italian restaurant that bragged about its homemade varieties.

The seven-course dinner for two might very well be your best choice ($7.35). It includes a bottle Chianti, antipasto, lasagne, chicken and veal cicciorone, spaghetti, or potato and vegetable, coffee and dessert. On this meal, two can thoroughly stuff themselves.

Along with a complete list of wines, and drinks, Simeone's also has an extensive selection of pizzas, very reasonably priced.

Oh yes, and if you're as lucky as we were and hit this place on the 13th of the month (show your college I.D.) you get a 10% discount on your meal. But don't flash out your Master Charge — then it doesn't count.

Name the Station Contest

In an effort to find the best call letter combination for the Lowell University radio station, WLTI will award over $400 worth of top name albums plus a variety of other prizes to the person that submits the best call letter combination. To be eligible to win, check out the rules below.

1) All combinations must start with the letter W to be followed by a three letter combination.

2) Any combination already held by another radio station will be eliminated.

3) Entries must include what the combination stands for or suggests and must include your name, mailing address and phone number, if possible. If applicable, your room number.

4) All entries must be received at WLTI no later than midnight October 24, 1974. The winner will be announced the weekend of November 1, 1974. In the event of a tie, the earliest received entry will determine the winner. All entries become the property of WLTI.

5) The winning combination will be picked by a selected panel of judges. Decision of the judges is final. Actual implementation of the call letters will take effect pending further approval.

Enter as many combinations as you wish, but enter early. In case of a tie the winner will be decided by which entry was received first. Entries may be dropped off at WLTI or at the mailroom addressed to "WLTI Call Letter Contest".

Fall Baseball

The fall baseball team began its nineteen game schedule this past week by dropping its opener to MIT and splitting a pair of games with Lowell State. Three more games were scheduled for the weekend, an away game versus Springfield on Saturday and a doubleheader with St. Anselm's on Sunday.

Captain Bill Carroll has already cracked a pair of homers and is leading the team from his shortstop position. Senior Leo Gendron is back again at second base and he too has hit a homer. The corners of the infield at first and third bases are up for grabs. Last year's reserve infielder Keith Steiding has seen action at third and Scott Linden (a catcher last year) has been working at first.

The outfield is wide open with only sophomore Gus Sharpy returning. Linden and Bill Eggers (when not pitching) has been seeing action.

Catching was left open, but freshman Steve Bennett has looked impressive in the three games coming through with some run-scoring hits.

Pitching is apparently set as only one man is gone from last year's squad. Bill Fulton and Eggers have both looked good thus far.

Coach Stone, although somewhat disappointed in the first three games, is confident of a winning season. He also mentioned that four or five freshmen have looked good and will help the team this year.

This week five games are scheduled:

Tues.	Lowell State	3:00
Wed.	Bentley	3:00
Fri.	At MIT	3:00
Sat.	Assumption(2)	10:00

Karate Gaining

Tremendous Popularity

Karate is a subject which has gained tremendous popularity in the past few years thanks to movies, television and magazines. However, the media has implanted distorted images in many minds concerning the people who study karate and karate itself.

If you would like to know what karate is, please feel free to stop by the small gym on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 12:00 to 2:00 and watch Master Tabata work with his students.

Master Tabata was sent here from Japan and is devoting his life to teach the way of karate. the LTI karate club and team are very lucky and honored to have Master Tabata here. Stop by, observe, ask questions, and see why we feel so lucky.

Soccer

The Terriers opened with two pre-season tilts this past week. They visited Tufts University Saturday, going down 5-2 after an impressive first half.

Tech came out strong as they completely dominated the first 20 minutes, astonishing Tufts, who have been in the NCAA Soccer Tournament two out of the last three years. Carl Maki, sent Billy George in alone and he drove it home to take a one to nothing lead. It was the last time the local booters had the lead, as Tufts scored twice at the end of the half, and came out still hot with three quick goals in the second half. Coach Nash Helmy, trying to get a look at everybody, substituted freely throughout the game. A standout from Tufts was Fred Sanches, who took seventeen shots and scored four out of Tufts' five goals. Freshman Dave Luna combined with Ed Bender late in the game for the final score. Dave D'Olympio was injured, when he suffered a concussion in a collision, but should be ready for action in the opening game Thursday.

Wednesday, Salem State came to Tech looking for their third straight victory after beating Brandeis and New Hampshire College. The game ended in a two-to-two tie with Al Doig and Carl Maki tallying the goals for L.T.I. Promising players in the game were Frosh goalie Chuck Amos, with fifteen saves, and Dave Luna a forward, and the halfback line of Carlos Vega, Charlie Mentos, and John Kalkajian, which controlled the center of the field extremely well.

With two games under their belts the Terriers are looking forward to an opening game win against MERRIMACK COLLEGE, SEPTEMBER 26, THIS THURSDAY, BEHIND THE GYMNASIUM. BE THERE AND CHEER TECH TO THE BEGINNING OF A GOOD SEASON.

BUSING!

The Lowell Tech students have been wallowing in a state of apathy and non involvement for quite a few years. The Student Senate has therefore appropriated funds for buses in an effort to quell the rising tide. Last week the Senate passed a motion for $225 to acquire buses for the following Football and Hockey games.

Football

Sept. 21 Bentley @ 1:00 Saturday (Waltham)
Sept. 28 Assumption @ 1:00 Saturday (Worcester)

Hockey

Nov. 23 U.Mass @ 8:00 Saturday
Dec. 2 A.I.C. @ 8:00 Tuesday
Jan. 28 St. Anslems @ 8:00 Tuesday

All Games at Skate #3 in Tyngsboro!

It should be noted that the appropriated monies come from your, the students, Activity fee so take advantage of the situation. HOP! a bus and catch a few Tech games. The more support these athletes gain the better the battles will be.

Cheering!

For all girls interested in cheerleading, there will be a meeting tues. from 2-3 in the small gym. If you love sports, have some ability or are willing to learn, and have pride in yourself, we need you. We want to try to raise the level of this organization and, needless to say, it can't be done without the help and time of enthusiastic participants. Come to the meeting. We'll fill you in on the details, and we hope to find spirit and determination. For any additional information, please feel free to contact myself at box 541 or Pat McCoy in the gym.

Schaefer Bowl

Because of the way the Text is published we are unable to report to you on the Bentley game. At this moment is has not been played.

Instead we will give you a little more depth into the background of the new league and the team itself.

The Eastern Collegiate Club Football Conference was founded back in 1971 and in that year Westchester Community College was the champion. Westchester is a college just north of N.Y. City. They were followed by Marist College in 1972, another New York college. Westchester again regained the title in 1973, and will be meeting the Hawks on Nov. 2.

With two days left before the first game we have elected new captains for the year, Rock D'Angelo our quarterback and "Big Al" Tosches our hardest hitting lineman. I have known these two guys for three years now, and can think of no one with more desire to play the game.

This Saturday we will be playing at Assumption College in Worcester, which will also have a bus going. We hope to see many familiar faces in the stands.
